" Innovations in Window Films for Architectural Applications"

Presented by Anthony “Tony” Prater
Architectural Business Development Representative
Eastman Chemical Company Performance Films Division

Eastman Chemical Company (Performance Films Division) is the largest Window Film Manufacturer in the world. This presentation provides an overview of the various types of window films available - solar control, low-e, safety and security, as well as decorative films. Understand how your next project can gain from the features and benefits that quality window films provide. Learn how to specify window films for increased energy savings, comfort (heat and glare control), privacy, safety, and fade protection. Advanced technologies in window film, applicable case studies, and available LEED credits are also covered.
